Reading The Bible Together

Early Readers-Pre-school: 'The Beginner's Bible' by Zonderkidz.

A great way to start off reading the Bible together, this collection of individual Bible stories has short, simple wording that (mostly) captures the main idea of each story. The pictures are big, colourful and friendly. We use this book in our creche program on Sundays @10am.

Early Primary School: 'The Big Picture Story Bible' by David Helm.

This one is also full of reasonably short and easy to read stories, but does a great job of showing how the whole Bible is one story that points to Jesus.

Mid-late Primary School: 'The Gospel Story Bible' by Marty Machowski.

Each story in this one is still just one page, but the language is a bit deeper. It also does a great job of showing how each story, and the Bible story as a whole, points to Jesus, while also telling some of the more mature Bible stories. Each story also has a couple of discussion questions to help you discuss it with your kids.

Going Over the Basics – Doctrine

Early Readers-Early Primary: 'Everything a Child Should Know about God' by Kenneth N. Taylor.

In a series of short, accessible chapters, this one takes kids through not only the story of salvation, but what the Bible teaches us about God, ourselves, and other key areas of Christian belief (doctrine). Each chapter also has a question to help you review and discuss what it says with your kids.

Early-Late Primary: 'The Ology: Ancient Truths Ever New' by Marty Machowski.

Written as a systematic theology for children (covering the core topics of Christian belief), this one does a great job of helping kids think about what the Bible teaches, with lots of helpful, concrete illustrations and quotes from the Bible in each chapter.
